EAST GREENWICH HIGH SCHOOL

AVENGER DRIVE, EAST GREENWICH, RHODE ISLAND

PUBLISHED BY CLASS OF 1968

FOREWORD

The woods are lovely, dark, and deep.
But I have promises to keep,
And miles to go before I sleep,
And miles to go before I sleep.

—Robert Frost

We, the Class of 1968, have traveled far in our twelve years of schooling. We have reached the highest level in one phase of education and progressed to the next until we now have attained and completed our senior year. In our travels, we have gained invaluable knowledge and experience and have developed strong friendships which we hope to retain always.

Although we have come a long way, the "journey" is far from complete. As we venture from East Greenwich High School, we leave behind fond memories and the comfort of a familiar place. We must now separate and travel our own paths into what, for us, is the unknown. It is hoped that this, the 1968 Crimson, will now, and in years to come, transport you back in time and help to relive your journey through East Greenwich High School.

OUR TRIBUTE

We who knew him, or knew of him, mourn him
We who worked and talked with him each day.
Because he'll live within our thoughts and memory,
He really never can be very far away.

He lived for others, so he will not be forgotten;
He was humanely kind in word and deed.
His faithfulness to duty and his gentle nature
Marked him a willing, generous "friend-in-need".

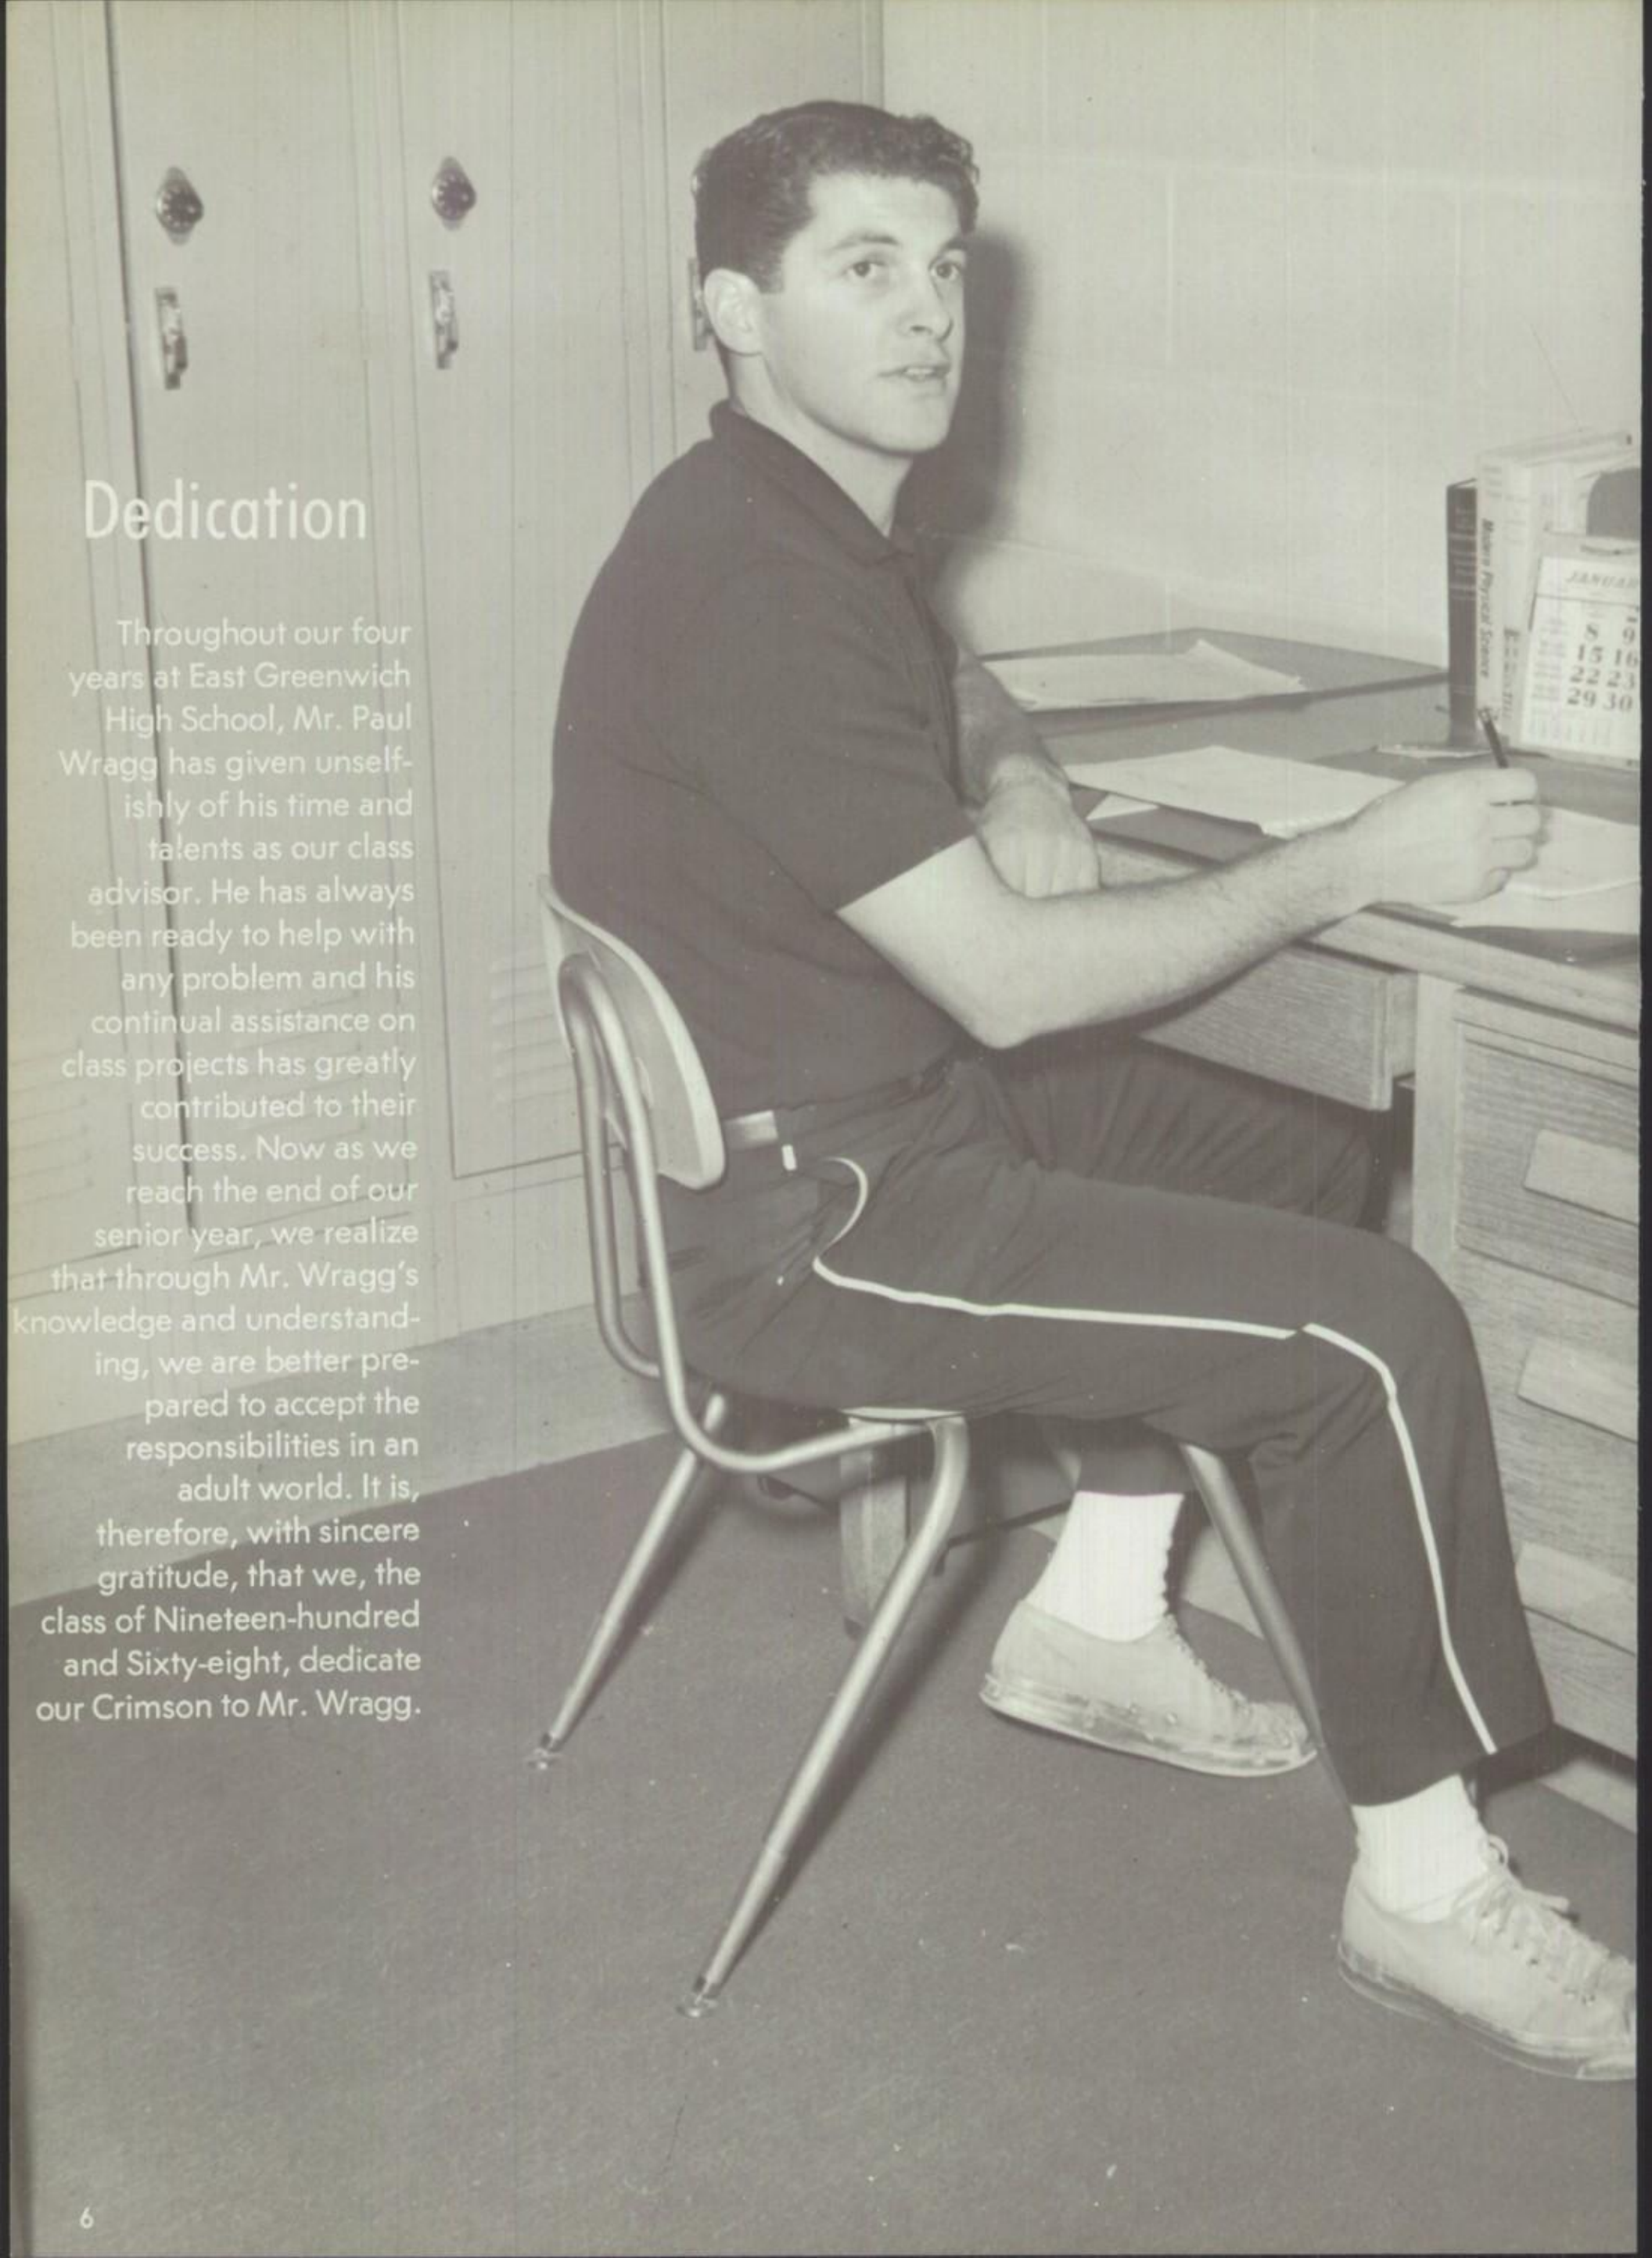
He was a man, a boys' man, and a teacher
Who loved to build, to show boys how to live
By using tools, and to love the great out-doors;
But always truth was his prerogative.

Now he is gone, and we do miss him. Yet
To such a life as his there is no end.
He left to us the privilege of knowing
A beloved teacher, gentleman, and friend.

Frances W. Cummings

Dedication

Throughout our four years at East Greenwich High School, Mr. Paul Wragg has given unselfishly of his time and talents as our class advisor. He has always been ready to help with any problem and his continual assistance on class projects has greatly contributed to their success. Now as we reach the end of our senior year, we realize that through Mr. Wragg's knowledge and understanding, we are better prepared to accept the responsibilities in an adult world. It is, therefore, with sincere gratitude, that we, the class of Nineteen-hundred and Sixty-eight, dedicate our Crimson to Mr. Wragg.



Appreciation

Mr. Rufus Brackley, Principal of East Greenwich High School, will be remembered by the Class of 1968 not only as a dedicated administrator, but also as a friend who is genuinely interested in the youth of East Greenwich. Having been principal for twenty years, Mr. Brackley has moved with the ever-expanding student body from the Academy to the previous high school to our present building. It is with respect, gratitude, and sincere appreciation that we present the second copy of the 1968 Crimson to Mr. Brackley.

FACULTY

Administration

To the members of the Class of 1968:

I extend my sincere congratulations. The main purpose of education is to encourage the desire for education within the individual. Education is not for the sole purpose of learning to earn a living—but teaches what to do with the living after it is earned. The better you serve your fellow men, the more you will be rewarded.

Archie Cole
Superintendent of Schools

To the members of the Class of 1968:

You have the distinction of being the first class to graduate from the new high school. This honor has provided you with many varied experiences. You have been a part of the growth of our physical plant and the development of our educational process. You have had the opportunity to help establish tradition and foster school spirit. You have been provided with opportunities to grow mentally, physically and morally. We hope you have profited from all the advantages offered you. Your preparation for the future is contingent upon what you have put into the years you have spent in our schools.

I wish you all success in your future endeavors.

Fred Bocchio
Director of Secondary Education

To the members of the Class of 1968:

Graduation Day 1968 will be a memorable one, not only for each of you, but for every citizen of East Greenwich.

This year has been a milestone in the history of East Greenwich marked by the opening of a magnificent new school building. Congratulations to each of you upon the successful completion of high school, and long may you cherish the memories of your years at East Greenwich High.

Rufus Brackley
Principal

To the members of the Class of 1968:

I extend my sincere congratulations. Education for all is more than ever the core of progress for our state and nation. In the classroom, the imagination of young men and women gains the intellectual discipline that turns it into useful thinking. It is here that the great ideas of the future are born. Continue your education, for the classroom will serve as a center of inquiry and discovery. Also, it will enable you to push on to new frontiers of understanding.

Best wishes and good luck.

Class History

We the class of nineteen hundred and sixty-eight embarked upon our four year journey through high school in the fall of 1964. We were somewhat apprehensive, as we knew that in spite of the many enticements of the high school's grown-up atmosphere, it would be a rough ride for most of us . . .

As freshmen we elect our officers who will conduct us through this year: President—Dave Canning, Vice-President—Reece Percival, Secretary—Pat Goggin, and Treasurer—Linda Catanio. Mr. Wragg and Mrs. Newhouser are our advisors . . . Class meetings are few and far between—talk about "zoos"! . . . Short skirts and long hair seem to be quite "unreal" to a few members of the administration . . . For once the Harvest Hop is not the "Freshman Flop"—we clear about $20. What a record breaker! . . . A familiar line is heard: "Hello, I'm for the class of 1968 at EGHS and in order to raise money for our class I am selling stationery. Would you like to buy some?" . . . For the first time the girls experience the thrill of legitimately chasing boys as Sadie Hawkins Day approaches; Bruce Briggs and Janice Thacker are Li'l Abner and Daisy Mae . . . Upperclassmen seem to think that freshmen should be seen and not heard, but we show them at class intramurals garbed as Jolly (Ho! Ho! Ho!) Green Giants . . . We take our first and only trip to Stratford to see The Taming of the Shrew . . . Moving-Up Day arrives and as we stumble over chairs amidst the somewhat weak strains of "Weaving In and Out the Rows", we move into the designated area for sophomores.

We have now achieved the status of upper underclassmen, and with this distinction we can "bust up" the freshmen . . . We elect Jeff Lord, Steve Pieraccini, Pat Goggin, and Linda Catanio as class officers. Mr. Wragg and Mrs. Newhouser retain the tedious task of advising our class . . . Will we ever have a quiet class meeting? . . . As sophomores, we vigorously support our biggest game of the season, Westerly and the battle for the co-championship. What a game! Could we ever forget it? . . . Marilyn Reed and Greg Kosciusko are this year's Daisy Mae and Li'l Abner . . . With Sadie Hawkins Day over, we put an earnest effort into our plans for the Sweetheart Dance. Decorating proves to be quite a job.

When the night of the dance arrives (after a somewhat hectic day) even we can't believe that our feeble fingers performed that task. Pastel ponies, roll after roll of crepe paper, and balloons transform the gym into a fantasy "Candy Carousel." We'll never forget the lovely music, provided by the lovely quartet at our lovely dance. The cascade of money-filled balloons and the subsequent climax stamped this lovely evening . . . Rats and Mice cavort with Batmen at class intramurals . . . Twelfth Night proves to be quite a vicarious experience—talk about "pennies from heaven"! . . . Final exams keep us tense . . . Then it's sun, sand, and surf!

We usher in our junior year with newly elected class officers—Jeff Lord, Dave

Canning, Pat Goggin, and Linda Catanio. Social Chairmen are Jan Thacker and Dave Arpin. Mrs. Thompson and Mr. Wragg attempt to advise our class . . . Still no luck with class meetings . . . Everyone scrimps and saves as a balance is due on class rings . . . Lynn Anderson and Jeff Lord represent the class at the Sadie Hawkins Dance . . . Jr. Bake Sale nets $70.00 . . . Superheroes and Chickenmen defeat the freshmen in class intramurals—must have been the fantastic turnout of the members of the class! . . . School committee gets to know us quite well. So what if it's tradition to have the prom in the gym! Constant pleas, polls and promises direct the decision in our favor . . . Quiet lunches are a novelty this year. The Student Corps has its hands full "Movin' 'em out!" . . . Snow jobs are a favorite nocturnal pastime for some members of our class until Mr. Wragg gets the word! . . . Project Discovery provides cultural entertainment . . . As we belt out an off-key version of the junior tribute, to the tune of "Born Free", we move up to senior position and into the new "institution" . . .

We enter our senior year with hopes of attaining senior privileges and fear of what looms in the future. For the last time we elect our class officers: Steve Pieraccini, president, Austin Gilbride, vice president, Joan Lynch, secretary, and for the fourth consecutive year, Linda Catanio handles our fiscal affairs. Dave Arpin and Vicki Lee are social chairmen . . . Our first class meeting proves to be quite a shocker, we actually behave!! Mr. Wragg and Mrs. Thompson, proud of our newly attained maturity, are confident we can have many more full class meetings . . .

We assume the traditional senior task of selling refreshments at home football games . . . The Elephant Fund, introduced to E.G.H.S. by Mr. Regini, is a huge success . . . Chinese fire drills liven up the traffic situation on Main Street . . . We're kind to the unborn grass . . . Our class holds a retake reunion at Lorings' . . . Once again we sell stationery to procure funds for our end-of-the-year activities . . . Homeroom representatives plead with their classes to pay up all back dues . . . The freshmen, it seems, outnumber us 2 to 1 . . . We try to remember to keep only six to a round table . . . East Greenwich High School makes newspaper and radio reports with "Flower Power" . . . We wholeheartedly support our last class dance, Santa's Workshop . . . At intramurals we surprise everyone as Bonnie and Clyde . . . We learn our college acceptances and rejections . . . Our long awaited Senior Banquet has come and gone . . . Moving-Up-Day . . . Ivy Day . . . our last prom . . . Now as we are at the end of our trip, we think back and realize that those turns we took and the bridges we crossed weren't so hair-raising after all. With Graduation Day near at hand, we think of it not as the end of a journey, but as the commencement of new experiences and even greater challenges.

Under the able leadership of its officers, the 1968 Student Council serves as a link of communication between the student body and the administration. The matters of senior privileges and student dress are major concerns of the organization. According to tradition, the Student Council sponsors the Sadie Hawkins' Dance and victory dances and runs the concession at basketball games. As a special project the council collected money to help provide a new elephant for the Roger Williams Park Zoo.

THE FOREIGN STUDENT COMMITTEE, an important branch of the Student Council, works with the East Greenwich Chapter of the American Field Service to find a host family for the next year. The committee, aided by the Student Council, sponsors the Annual Community Dinner in November.

THEY SEEK TO INFORM

The Avenger, a student newspaper, written, typed, and organized by its members, is commercially printed and then distributed at school. The staff raises money through carwashes and newspaper sales.

As reporters and feature writers for newspapers and radio, interested students cover events at East Greenwich High School during the week and bring this news to the public through the Evening Bulletin, the Pawtuxet Valley Times, the Rhode Island Pendulum, and radio state WARV.

The Xyloid, a literary magazine written and published by high school students, encourages and displays the individual talents of its members.

Students interested in business keep informed of current trends in the business world, career opportunities in the field of business, and business education.

Future nurses enjoy guest speakers, films, and field trips to hospitals and nursing schools to further their knowledge in the medical profession. The Club engages itself also in holiday projects—a Thanksgiving dinner basket and Christmas gifts for less fortunate families in the community.

This year's Audio-Visual Club emerged from the obscurity of its small meeting room above the library to present the school with a psychedelic assembly program. Months of after-school lab work and research made this first presentation of its type possible. In addition to special projects, club members learn to operate school equipment for classroom use and assembly programs, investigate uses for new types of equipment, and travel to places interesting the club.

"The Music Explosion"

The music department gained a strong foothold this year under the able direction of Mr. Edgar Edwards. The band acquired new uniforms and instruments, and for the first time, the members were able to display their musical ability regularly to the student body by playing before assembly programs. The chorus performed in two assemblies, and both the band and the chorus took part in a special holiday concert with Granby High School in Connecticut.

Another musical organization, the Folksinging Club, was formed this year for those students with an interest in folk music. At weekly meetings members gather informally to sing along with guitar accompaniment.

The activities the club is engaged in are obtaining buses for away football and basketball games, making posters to support the games, and decorating the goal posts in the traditional school colors. Its money making projects are selling rosters, booster buttons, and pennants.

LIGHTS, CAMERA, ACTION!

The Dramatic Club has the greatest membership and popularity of any club in the school. Under the leadership of Mr. R. Kenneth Girard, it gives the students a chance to become active and knowledgeable in all areas of theatrical production. The first performance included the medieval morality play "Everyman" and "The Frogs" by Aristophanes. The second production was George Orwell's "1984", a portion of which was entered in the 1968 Drama Festival.

The Thrill of Victory . . .

The Agony of Defeat

The Avengers, facing the 1967 football season with a veteran backfield and a practically inexperienced line, soon learned that their job would not be easy. After dropping the opener to Coventry, East Greenwich was stunned by Lincoln, 20-15. Still looking for its first victory, the team fought back under the leadership of co-captains Jeff Lord and Dave Canning and took the next three games to lift its record to 3 wins and 2 losses. The Avengers marched confidently onto the field for the annual clash with Westerly, but the Bulldogs turned them back 14-13 on a missed point after attempt. The team was unable to break out of its slump, as Cranston West handed East Greenwich a 7-0 loss the following Saturday. Confronted with the threat of a losing season, the Avengers looked for the victory that would break them even as they hosted their traditional rival, North Kingstown. However, the Skippers proved stronger, and stung East Greenwich with a score of 13-0, giving the Avengers an impressive but hard-fought record of 3-5-0 for the season.

The Avengers, with veterans Bob Spencer and Steve Pieraccini returning as co-captains and sophomore ace Don West in the starting line-up, foresaw the 1967-68 basketball season as a possible trophy year. The schedule was challenging, and it seemed to express the popular opinion, that it would be a tough, but exciting season. And so it was, as E. G. went to the final buzzer in numerous games with only one or two baskets determining the winner. The contests offered many moments of anxiety, relief, discouragement, and joy, as the student body strongly supported the Avengers throughout the 1967-68 season. The team finished the schedule with a disappointing, but promising record of four wins and eight losses.
